MELISSA HOGLUND JOINS THE STANWICH SCHOOL AS DIRECTOR OF DEVELOPMENT

GREENWICH, CT—January 22, 2009—Melissa Hoglund, with a wealth of experience in the fundraising industry, has been appointed Director of Development for the Stanwich School.

As Director of Development, Hoglund takes on the leadership role of shaping initiatives for Capital and Planned giving for the school.

Hoglund comes to Stanwich from Northern Westchester Hospital where she served as President of the Northern Westchester Hospital Foundation and Senior Vice President of External Affairs. Prior to that, Melissa worked at Rippowam Cisqua School as Director of the Annual Fund and Communications.

In this position, Hoglund joins the administration of the Stanwich School under the leadership of Patricia Young, founder and headmistress. “Fundraising is a people-to-people connection where we share the mission and vision of the Stanwich School with those who have a heart for values-integrated education. Melissa is passionate about our mission. Having another voice advancing this message is essential for growing Stanwich, and we are delighted to have her as part of our team,” Young said.

Commenting on her new role, Hoglund said, “I’m delighted to be joining the Stanwich School at this important time and very much look forward to applying my experience at this exceptional institution.”

A resident of Bedford, N.Y., Hoglund received a Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Princeton University and graduated Summa Cum Laude from the Hotchkiss School.

Hoglund has three children, DB Effler, Fox Lane High School ‘06, currently a junior at the University of Michigan; Susan Effler, Hotchkiss ‘08, is a freshman at Hamilton College; and Alex Effler, a junior at Salisbury School, class of 2010. All three attended Rippowam Cisqua in Bedford for elementary and middle school.
